SPRING STARTS THIS WEEK

A ripe chance in the weather set in the latter end of the week, and since Saturday farmers have been on the land setting in in shape for seeding. While there have been little frost at night, the days have been warm. The ground is at present in good shape for working, and there is a good seed bed. The snow of the winter have melted off, and there will be enough moisture to germinate the crop, though it is not as far down as some other years, and rain will be wanted once the crop is on the ground. Quite a number of farms have changed hands during the past two months, and the new owners and tenants are now in possession and getting down to work.

FRANK SEALES BUILDING

As noted in our report of the Town Council meeting, Mr. Frank Seale has bought a lot on Second Street off the town, on which he plans to erect a modern barber shop, etc. The building will be 21x25, with basement and 12 rooms, and a small office. Work will probably commence next week.

NAMAKA NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Trent of Travers, are expecting in the birth of a baby girl. Mrs. Trent, nee Miss Little Haggood, is a daughter of Mr. Haggood, Namaka. The mother and babies are doing very well.

Farm work became general in the Namaka district on April 15th. Land generally is in good shape.

Mr. and Mrs. Fawkes are expecting in the birth of a daughter.

In the results of the final examinations at the Gleichen Agricultural School Miss Isabel Lawrie secured first place in her class.

The Piano Fund Committee have arranged for another of their popular dances on Friday evening at the usual time and place.

CIVIL TRIAL AT STRATHMORE

At a sitting of the District Court, held in the Town Hall on Monday of last week, His Honor, Judge McNeill, took evidence in a suit at the instance of Nils Gude and Christian Gude, of Strathmore, against Charles Ohay, of Blackie, late of Strathmore.

The claim of the plaintiffs was for $9,000 for baling 22 1/2 tons of straw used by Arnie Watson to Ohay.

The defence set up was that the straw was useless on account of the bluffs containing manure.

Plaintiffs and two witnesses, testified that the straw was in good condition when baled, as Ohay had no witness to testify to the condition of the straw when baled, the Judge stated that he had no alternative but to give judgment for the plaintiffs.

His Honor, Judge McNeill has recently been moved from Lethbridge to Calgary, and this is his first sitting at Strathmore.

COMMUNITY CLUB MEETING

At a meeting of the Community Club held last Wednesday, arrangements were made for the holding of a tennis luncheon.

A number of other matters in the interests of the town and district were taken up. A committee of three consisting of Messrs VanTichen, Patrice and French was formed to help in the promotion of good roads.

Montreal, Que.—The first shipment of wheat from the Prairie Provinces via Vancouver and the Panama Canal arrived in London recently, and Messrs. Dewar and Webb, consignees, stated that never was any shipment landed in better condition, and the millers of the Corn Exchange have said that the wheat was about the finest which had ever been received from Canada. The shipment of Western Canadian wheat via Vancouver and the Panama Canal is a new venture, and in view of the success which it attended this initial effort it is probable that large shipments of wheat from the Prairie Provinces will be made to Europe by this route.

ROADS BEING FIXED

The Provincial Government is this year making an early start in the work of putting the Calgary-Treasury Highway into shape, and crews have been working on the road since the end of last week.

The road was some over last fall and has come through the winter in good shape, and with periodic attention during the spring and summer months should be a first-class motor road.

The Town of Strathmore are also having the roads within the boundaries of the town graded, and the sum of $2,500 has been set aside for up-keep and improvement.

The Municipality of Bow Valley, with the coming season now on them, will probably have some trouble to get teams and men to work at present. However, the Council are getting as much grading as possible done just now. Tenders for the grading work will be opened in May.

SUCCESS AT WINTER FAIR

At the Calgary Winter Fair, held last week, there were large entries in practically every class, and the stock was up to a very high standard. Among local winners were Mr. Dave Robinson, who was third in the 2500 lb. Hereford Bull class, and Mr. Daugh, who won fourth place with his black Friesian Steer.

The Dominion Pure-bred Cattle show, which is largely held locally, closed on Friday morning at the show. Leathem's "Clarin", their Chicago champion winner, was only shown for exhibition. The championship was won with their three-year-old heifer, Sergeant York.

Mrs. A. Layzell won the championship for thoroughbred hares in the "White Wonder" and first in yearling filly class with Diana Wells. Jack Thompson won two firsts and one second with his harkneys.

MEMORIAL HALL COMMENCING SOON

Within a few days time it is to be hoped to be able to commence work on the Strathmore War Memorial Hall. Tenders for the erection of the building have been called for, and these are to be in by Friday of this week.

In the meantime the excavation of the basement is to be proceeded with.

The Strathmore G.W.A.A. have received word lately that a couple of captured German machine guns are on their way to Strathmore, and these will be used to decorate the front of the building when erected. Application is also being made for a couple of machine guns.

As our readers know, the purpose of the Memorial is to commemorate the services of the men from Strathmore and district who died for their country in the Great War.

The title is vested in the Strathmore G.W.A.A., and the interests of the public are protected by agreement with the Municipality of Bow Valley and the Town of Strathmore. There is therefore no possibility of the hall becoming the property of any private individual.

The hall is to be erected by public subscription, and while all the money has not yet been raised, the returned men have confidence that the people of the town and district will, despite the financial stringency, back them in their endeavor to raise a fitting memorial to their departed comrades.

THE PICTURES

Another equally house greeted the natives on Wednesday evening, and Messrs. Danforth and Barber are to be congratulated on the success they have met with so far. The principal picture shown was "Luck in Pawn" and it was well received.

At tonight's entertainment the principal feature will be Irene Castle in "The Invisible Bond." The following Wednesday Robert Warwick will star in "An Adventure in Hearts." Details will be found in our advertising columns.

TOWN COUNCIL

Decides to Buy Fire Truck

The regular meeting of the Strathmore Town Council, held on Tuesday evening, was a prolonged one, and was distinguished at times by vocal fireworks.

Those present were Mayor Barber, Councilmen Anderson, Bell, French, Taylor, and Marshall.

Moderate Fire Equipment

After considerable discussion the Council agreed to purchase a Ford truck chassis, at a cost of $1200, and mount one of the chemical engines and a water tank on it, the idea being to tow the other engine behind as a trailer if required. It was also decided to purchase some hand extinguishers for emergencies.

Investment of Sinking Fund

The town has within the last two or three months accumulated over $2000 in Sinking Fund monies, which are at present in savings at the Union Bank.

The Finance Committee had proposed to invest these in Provincial Government Bonds, but on the representation of Bank Manager Roberts agreed to have them in the recent Savings Bank deposit at three per cent, on the understanding that when the town wanted to borrow money they get it at the rate of 7 per cent.

New Building on Second Street

There were two applicants for the purchase of the lot on Second Street between the Strathmore Restaurant and the Star Restaurant. Mr. Frank Seale was the successful applicant, at a price of $1000 and taxes, while Mr. W. G. Tierney's application was turned down.

It was agreed to carry on with road work as soon as weather permitted.

Edmonton, Alta.—A suggested demonstration of the type of heat that Alberta produces will be made next May or June, when the department of agriculture of the province will ship to England fifty or sixty head of the best animals that can be obtained.

These animals will be fully advertised and officially shown at Birkhead during the ten days in quarantine before they have to be slaughtered.

"We will wait for them here," he said. "When they find each other they will remain in the position in which they have been placed. I will demand that they throw down their arms and surrender. If they refuse, and fire, we will return their fire. But, boys," he added, "they mustn't get a glow as from our aim."

"They'll not," came a protest as from one side.
"And remember, let them fire first," he glanced about him, and noticed that Danny Farney a little apart from the others.

"Danny," he said—and there was a note in his voice that the boy had never heard before—"I will demand that you to bury all personal enmities against Dalton, and fight toe to toe with me and the others, for the cause of the world. Don't shoot, unless you have to. God knows, this thing is terrible enough to have to do, without letting passion and bloodlust assume the lead."

"Just as you say, Dorkin," Danny replied. "I wasn't aamin' to give any change but I guess I can't help it."

"That's right, Danny. Now you keep this position, and I'll place the others. Then I'm going up to the cabin for a moment or two. I'll be reached for the boy's hand and gripped in his."

Fifteen minutes later, having stationed his men, Dorkin went up to the cabin. He found the pallid light improved, Dalton sitting beside him. Mr. Laffer had given over going to the Settlement. She had not wanted to be in the first place, and welcomed the excuse of having visitors to keep her at home.

Dorkin remained a short time talking in his guests. "By the way," he remarked, as he turned to go, "it is a pity that you should have happened to hear shooting during the night, do not be concerned. The word has reached us that a wolf pack is in the region of the Pressee, and to-night we are going to try and get on the chance of a shot." And bidding them good night and pleasant dreams, he passed out.

As he stepped from the cabin, Will saw Dave from the shadows and confronted him.
"Dorkin," she said, "is Dalton as his men come to-night?"

"Who told you they were, Willow?" he asked in surprise.
"Nobody told me. I know, that's all. What did you do with my rifle?"

"I put it away, Willow."
"Because I was afraid you might hurt somebody?"

"She threw back her head, and laughed the old, defiant laugh he used to hear.
"Well, why shouldn't I hurt somebody?" she asked. "I'll take what the rest of you intend doing, if you have it, ain't it?"

Dorkin shook his head. "But you won't run into danger, Willow, the wisp," he admonished. "I want you to promise me that you will go into the cabin, and stay there till morning."

"Well, I shall do it."
She stamped her foot on the sward and stared her head angrily.

"He turned away. All right, Willow," he said. "Of course I can't make you. But I would feel much better if I knew you were safe inside. That's all."

She caught his arm as he turned to go.
"You wait right here, Dorkin," she checked. "I'll go in. I'll do whatever you say."

"Thanks, Willow, the Wisp."
"Then, good-bye, and God keep you safe."

She reached up and drew his face down against her own wet cheek.
"It's your little pal speaking," Dalton, she whispered, and kissed him.

CHAPTER XXI
To the watchers in the forest the night passed slowly. Midnight came, but no sign of the raiders. The hours dragged by, and still no sign of the raiders, no shadowy shapes of cattle intruding across the lake.

Then, just as darkness was giving place to dawn, they came. Dorkin, standing in a thicket of birch, close beside the trail, glimpsed them first, bays and greys, and a pack of red dogs, the signal agreed upon to let the other know. But there was no other sound except the faint click of rifle-bambers giving down back, and the low howl of a hundred wolf, whistling to their progeny.

It is a short time they reached the cabin. They found Mr. Dorkin up and dressed, though pale and shaky. Laffer's wife was trying her best to get the situation under control. She formed Dorkin, in answer to his quick question, was in her room, and Willow had gone out, she didn't know where.

Dorkin had taken the precaution to throw Timberley's face with his hands. He found, however, that the woman paid no attention. He seemed to be in a dazed condition. (To be continued)

The sheriff annually pay into the British treasury six hundred dollars, with the proper number of men, as rent for a piece of ground in the parish of St. Clement's.

Camphorhale strengthens the weak throat, stops the cough, removes that backing irritating necessity to clear the throat, makes even the chronic sufferer realize that at last he has discovered a real friend. The names came out, almost, five of them, with two men to a canoe. They beached simultaneously, and the paddlers leaped nimbly ashore. We were off on the shore.

In addition, working with the system are tobacco stations at Farnham, Ques, and Hurreau, Ont. At all of these experimental and research work of national importance is carried on. This illustration or demonstration station have been established in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Quebec, Alberta and Saskatchewan. Each branch of agriculture is made up in its equipment, and the results are made public through the press and by means of addresses, demonstrations and exhibits.

"You, Bill, Jake and Ben," Dalton was saying, in guarded tones, took off on their way, and a few minutes later, drawn Dalton, and whoever else was with him, away. "You, Specs and Haddock, take care of the boys, and the old silver guy and his people. Don't other boys have that animal you're to get hold of."

Fifteen yards away Dorkin's voice came out. "Up with your hands! You can see rifles trained on you. If you don't do it now, you'll be shot."

A sound, something like a gasp, came from the surprised raiders.
"You Dalton's voice, shouted, 'It's a bluff, men!'"

With the exception of himself and one other, had obeyed that crisp command.
"All right," he roared, one, his hand high in the air. "That feller never blinks."

Dorkin stepped from the thicket, with presented rifle. "Dalton," he said, "I'm not here. I've got you and your band dead to rights. The bullet grazed Dalton's cheek."

In answer Dalton pitched his rifle toward, firing the shot. The bullet grazed Dalton's cheek.

Then, putting the lying shadows of the lake, there came a flash of flame and from a canoe, in which sat two men, a small-caliber rifle barked.

Dorkin sank slowly down on the rocks, and by still. The trappers lay dead, not from the wound, but from themselves up alongside of him.

A voice among Dalton's men cried, "Everybody run for it!" But before they could get on the suggestion, Dorkin's men closed in on them.

One of them, however, a big man, dressed in grey tweeds and wearing a felt hat, broke through the guard and leaped for the forest, turning at a glance to fire at the men who pursued him.

They remained his first job as he entered the protecting timber. As the pursuers turned to replenish their cartridges, a flame leaped from the trees and sprang on the spot.

"Well, we got him, after all!" called Pa Wainwright. "Dorkin," he called, "when you get them rifle-bands tied up, would you mind coming to the cabin and see if I should like this feller as we've plunked?"

The prisoners were being securely bound, however, by Dalton.

"I'll make up my mind later just what to do with them. The two in the canoe, however, were formed them as he turned away towards Wainwright.

"Come along, you say, Pa?" he asked as he came up. "You had, but not yet as I feared it might be."

"Where is he?"
"He's lying on his side, just outside the woods, Dorkin. Come along and I'll show you."

The faint flash of dawn was spreading in the eastern sky and the shadows were lifting from lake and forest, as Dalton bent over the still form on the ground, and turned it over so that he could see the face.

"Timberley!" he gasped. "Good God!"

"Timberley!" echoed the settler. By himself, but it's a sudden end to his life. "He's gone, Pa."

"Don't," said Dorkin quickly, "take his feet and help me carry him up to my cabin. No, not in that direction, we'll go up through the woods. I'll be right there for not waiting for boys to know about this."

All right, Dorkin. I've got my half sense, you just lead the way. Don't say he was gone?" asked the settler.

"No, he isn't dead—not yet. As you stand a little farther back, Pa?"

The Experiment Farms System

Experimental Farms System of Canada Not Appreciated as it Should Be.

Research has several times been made in parliament and elsewhere that the splendid work performed by the experimental farms system of Canada is not nearly so widely known and appreciated as it should be. In the Agricultural Gazette of Canada for January there appears an outline of the system and the tasks in which it is engaged. The Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa is the headquarters of the twenty branch experimental farms and stations. It is stated that there is one farm in each of the provinces of Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Ontario, two in Nova Scotia, four in Quebec, two in Manitoba, three in Saskatchewan, two in Alberta and four in British Columbia. There are also two substations in Alberta, two in the Yukon and one in British Columbia. In addition, working with the system are tobacco stations at Farnham, Ques, and Hurreau, Ont. At all of these experimental and research work of national importance is carried on. This illustration or demonstration station have been established in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Quebec, Alberta and Saskatchewan. Alberta Beef
For Great Britain

Stockmen Planning to Open New Market For Their Cattle.

Alberta stockmen are now preparing to open a new market in Great Britain for their cattle, whether or not the present embargo on Canadian steer cattle into that country is removed. A number of prominent ranchmen are making arrangements to send to England a number of five cattle which have been graded during the past winter, and the results of such a move will be watched by shippers throughout the prairie provinces.

Under existing regulations the animals must be held in quarantine for ten days of their arrival at a British port. A considerable business, however, along these lines has already been built up by shippers from the Eastern Canadian provinces, and the great divergence between the price of stock in the two countries is tempting the western stockmen to follow their example.

It is stated that Scotch and English feed prices have been falling at about twenty-four pence a pound on foot, a tremendous increase over the prices paid at Canadian and American stock markets. As the animals would be paid for in British currency there would be the difference in exchange to make a sufficient reason to make the venture profitable.

20,000 Children Die Violent Deaths

Red Cross Figures of Fatal Accidents in U.S. Are Alarming.

Figures compiled by the Red Cross prove that in the United States, 20,000 children, under fourteen years of age, each, violent deaths. Burns, falls, automobile and other vehicular accidents, drowning and poisoning exact the heaviest toll of child life. Forty per cent. of the children who die before reaching their fifth birthday are killed accidentally, while almost 20 per cent. of the deaths claiming those between five and fourteen result from accidents, the compilation showed. After fourteen, accidents cause proportionately fewer deaths. First-aid instruction given swimmers throughout the country by the Red Cross had reduced drowning fatalities from 10,000 to 5,000 annually, by the statement said.

HALF-BACK SANDY BRINGS HIS TEAM TO STRATHMORE

Every healthy man and woman loves a laugh. It keeps one young, it makes life smooth.

In the great college comedy that will be presented to the people of Strathmore on Saturday the 23rd day of April, laughter will be crowned king. Half-back Sandy will carry any audience on the high tide of mirth from start to finish, and the humorous dialogue and ludicrous situations are not those that have grown old to theatregoers; they are fresh and rare. The wit and humour of this rare comedy is that which sparkles most radiantly in the youth in those glad days of his college life, when the sunshine of optimism smiles upon his every act, those days of academic rivalries and athletic struggles.

"Half-back Sandy" tells of the battle for athletic supremacy on the gridiron between two colleges, jealous of each other. Strange expedients are resorted to by the one institution to "out" the other. Complicated and impossible situations are created and in a whirl of fun and a strange confusion of identities, the story moves forward to the great football game that is as full of thrills and anxieties to the audience as a great football match fought out under the flood-lights on a cold November day would be to the loyal student who hoped and despaired as his team lost and gained.

"Half-back Sandy" was written by the renowned dramatic writer, Norman Swenson, a graduate of Princeton University, at the time when the destinies of the great colleges were being directed by Woodrow Wilson. No one knew college life more intimately than Norman Swenson, and no one ever interpreted its spirit so grandly or its humour so sweetly than this great writer of college plays.

"Half-back Sandy" took the American stage by storm. It roused all the lovers of good drama to a realization of the possibilities of college "humour." It swept the country like a prairie fire the places. All came in curiosity to see, and everyone departed, afterwards, the great comedy, with the bright feeling that after all there are some good things in the world, and not one of them has been seen.

With a poor cast "Half-back Sandy" would hold its audience enchanted, it possesses such inherent powers; but St. Mary's Dramatic Club, which will enact it in Strathmore, is anything but a weak cast. In it are model winners in memory and elocution, and actors who have won considerable notoriety locally. The extremely careful has been taken in the rehearsals and nothing has been overlooked that would in any way add to the finish of occasional rendering and dramatic technique. Those who have witnessed the rehearsals give every assurance that the performance will be a delightful one.

The play is being produced for Strathmore under the auspices of the Catholic Church Societies, for the benefit of the church, but as far as the play itself is concerned, no element of religion enters into it.

An attraction feature of the performance will be the singing of Frank Newton, who possesses what is considered by the ablest music critics in Calgary, as the most beautiful boy's voice in Alberta.

Why The Ford Is The "Universal Car."

DOWN among the orchards of Nova Scotia, the farms of New Brunswick, on Sherbrooke Street in Montreal, Yonge Street in Toronto, Portage Avenue in Winnipeg, on the far flung horizons of Saskatchewan and Alberta, up through the mountains of British Columbia, down Granville Street in Vancouver, on Government Street in Victoria—it's the same story—half of all the cars you see are Ford cars—in many sections they are two to one of all the other makes.

And it is the same story in Africa, Australia, Britain, Europe, United States—throughout the world—one half of all the motors on earth are Fords.

Why? Because the simplicity of the Ford car adapts it to every driver.

—because the power of the Ford car carries it wherever the driver wants to go.

—because its durability and rugged strength make it the car for every condition of usage.

—because of its low first cost and low cost of operation and maintenance.

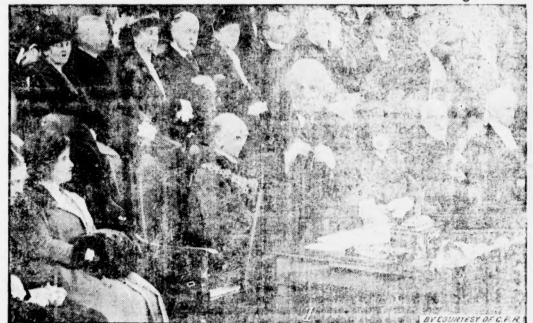

The Ford Car is a good car for you to own.

Does Your Farm Pay You?

The fact that you are staying on it and getting your three squares a day means that at least you are making an existence from it, but you are not satisfied with that. Possibly some departments of your work are making you profit and others a loss.

You are at the beginning of another crop season. Make up your mind to check up your receipts and expenditures carefully. There is a system published that enables you to do this at the expense of a few dollars, initial cost, and a few minutes time each week, but it will result in your knowing where you are making and where you are losing.

You can see the system at our office. It is Scott's Simplified Accounting System, for Farmers only. It has ample room for five year's entries, and it is simple, so that you do not have to be a bookkeeper to keep it correctly. See copies at

M. D. BOW
VALLEY MEETING

The regular meeting of M.D. Bow Valley was held on Saturday, April 2 at the Municipal Office. Rev. John presided, and Councillors present were Messrs. Lawson, Groves, Chamberlain and Wheeler.

A large number of business were transacted, of which the following is a synopsis.

The Council asked, with regard to the dispute amount for income tax papers, that the Minneapolis Street and Machinery Co. be asked to send a representative to the next meeting of the Council, who could be authorized to make a satisfactory arrangement with the Council.

Grading Roads

Mr. J. Schultz asked that the road grading should be commenced at an earlier date than had been fixed to the Council, but it was decided to leave the date for grading as before.
Application for grading will be referred to each Councillor for information as to the road requiring grading
in each district.

The Council expressed their willingness to have grading done by house-power.

Flumes for lumber were received,
but it was decided to leave them over for a time as lumber prices were dropping.

Weed Inspector

Mr. Wheeler moved that no weed inspector be appointed, but this was lost, three voting against it. It was moved by Mr. Chamberlain that a weeder be appointed.

Mr. W. D. Spence was reappointed
auditor.

A letter from the Public Health Department reappointment of a public health nurse was tabled.

Hall Insurance Convention

The Secretary, Mr. G. W. Vay, reported on his attendance at the annual Hall Insurance Convention. One of the principal discussions was in regard to the $200,000 payments which were still owing by bankrupted firms.
It was considered that greater effectiveness in making collections was necessary to the success of the scheme, though it was considered that too much stringency would be injurious.

A vote of thanks was given for his report was carried unanimously.

Dividing Municipalities into Divisions.

Since the inception of the Municipality Councils have been elected as large, but the present Council are in favor of dividing the Municipality into permanent divisions, each electing their own Councillors, each electing their own Councillors.

It was decided to put a bylaw before the ratepayers outlining the proposed change, and it was left to Councillor Chamberlain, and the secretary to be a committee to arrange the boundaries.

Memorial Hall

It was decided that the Council could not make their present donation to the Memorial Hall till later in the year. Mr. Peck was called in to give his opinion as to the representation of the agreement, and said that a caveat could be registered along with the principal deed and the Council should keep a copy of it.

Wages for 1921

It was decided to pay the following wages for roadwork: men $1.00, foremen $2.00, men and team $6.00, men and four horse team $8.00.

Application for Grant

A letter was read from the Board of Trustees of Carleton Place Community Hall, asking for subscription or interest in the Municipality District to take up shares. A motion that the matter be tabled was lost, and it was then decided that the Secretary ask the Government if the Municipality has power to make such a donation.

Grasshoppers

The question of the cost of destroying the grasshoppers was taken up.
The secretary reported that a cyclone seeder could be used with excellent results in distributing poison.

The secretary was instructed to write the Government asking for a refund of the cost incurred by the Municipality in destroying grasshoppers
last year.

Bailiff Wanted

It was decided to write the member of the Executive Committee for the appointment of a bailiff at Strathmore, which would reduce the costs of collection of taxes, etc.

Valuation Raised

A letter was read from the Department of Municipal Affairs stating that the Valuation Board had raised the valuation of the lands in the Municipality
by 20 per cent.

Collection of Taxes

In view of the appropriation for the current year, it was decided to take steps to collect all outstanding taxes.

CARSELAND NOTES

A good crowd turned out to see the picture show in the Church on Tuesday evening last, when Mr. D. A. Cameron of the University Extension Dept.
gave an evening in the interest of the local school, giving to the ladies, from whom the power was derived being in poor shape the pictures were not so good as Mr. Cameron would have liked but everyone else seemed to be satisfied. The machine and pictures are a sample of what the University handles exclusively. Through Mr.
Cameron assured that the usual run of films are even better than the ones sent out on this occasion.

After consulting the U.G.O. office in Calgary it was found that they could produce plans and specifications for the proposed hall for $2000 but could not be in Calgary for less than $2000. Their offer was accepted by the Trustees, and the work is now in their hands.

Mr. E. M. Anderson, bookkeeper for the Prairie Lumber, in Calgary, assumed charge of the local yard for a few days last week in the absence of Mr.
L. G. Shultz.

Mr. C. J. Davis returned from his trip to Scotland one day last week.
The school reopened on Monday
of this week after a week's holidays with a new room and a new teacher in the person of Mrs. C. C. Pugh.
The equipment for the new room is in place except the seats, which will be on hand this week. Carleton now has a three room school.

A number of the friends and outsiders of the newly wedded Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lausen, gave them a surprise (The one night last week in the form of the inevitable champagne. After just, a very pleasant time was had,
and the happy couple are now relieved of the unavoidable expense.

Mrs. Grace Wilson, who has been paying an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. W. H. Hill, expects to return to her home in Edmonton this week.

ORGANIZATION

With the beginning of April activities of the Red Cross organization in Calgary is under way throughout the whole of Canada for the forthcoming Red Cross membership enrollment and this month will witness extensive activity in every province in preparation for the simultaneous effort to fill every man, woman and child in the Dominion of Canada as a member of the Red Cross Society. In the western provinces the week of June 15th to 19th has been selected as the date of the enrollment canvass. In some of the eastern provinces the canvass will take place during the last week of May.

The date of the campaign is in accordance with the resolution of the League of Red Cross Societies calling for universal membership enrollment in all the countries subscribing to the League and suggesting the month of May as the time for this campaign in all countries where the local conditions permit.

Plans for this campaign have been under consideration by the Red Cross for many months and already in Alberta much preliminary work has been done. An active campaign organization has been set up under the direction of Miss M. J. H. McDonald, and a number of enthusiastic volunteers are already touring the province forming the necessary local committees for this effort.

The universal membership enrollment is an essential preliminary with the general introduction of the peace policy of the Red Cross. Albertans are already familiar with the great peace plans of this organization, our province having been a pioneer in the introduction of its peace program for "improvement of health, the prevention of disease and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world."

Hart Parr 30 Owners

Expert Their Own Tractors

There's nothing that gives an owner as much satisfaction as to feel that he is master of his tractor.

This is one of the secrets of the Hart-Parr 30's prestige among its owners. It is built for the farmer, not the mechanic.
In less than five minutes you can get at any working part of the Hart-Parr 30, and adjust it standing on your feet, not lying on your back.

Simplicity Features of the Hart-Parr 30

A two-cylinder tractor with slow speed motor, giving abundant power, greater economy from kerosene, having fewer parts, and more accessible.

One end, cast steel frame—no bend, no twist; parts always in alignment.

Crank case exposed for inspection by removing only four wing nuts.

Transmission case exposed for inspection by removing two cap screws at either end.

Outside counterweights—cannot get loose and damage motor.

Clutch adjustable from one point and from platform of tractor.

Pulley directly driven from motor with out passing through gears that would wear out and give trouble.

Friction driven fan and circulating pump—no slipping, breaking belts.

Force feed oil—a constant supply of fresh oil to motor parts.

Construction that dates back to the old
Hart-Parrs with a record for long life.

Plenty of power—no undue strain,
hence long life and minimum repairs.

Mr. F. T. McElhiney was here on a visit during the weekend. He expects to come back again shortly. Don't forget to be present at the Community Club luncheon tonight, at 6 p.m.

In another column will be noted a letter from the Principal of Glenora School of Agriculture giving details of the steps the Government are taking to meet any possible outbreak of grasshoppers. It is so early in the spring that it is not yet known whether there will be any this year. The letter is forwarded, and any farmer who sees the pests on his place should report at once.

Kerobert, Sask.—No one will deny that farming ought to be profitable when land sowed to wheat yields $178.50 per acre. This is what A. A. Cunningham is getting for his last year's wheat crop. He sowed his farm to Red Duke and Ruby wheats, the former of which yielded 51 bushels to the acre and the latter 11 bushels. At present prices with the excellence of the crop each acre is returning $178.50.

FLAMING COMET MAY HIT EARTH

Next June, if the calculations of an eminent British astronomer are correct, this old earth is going to experience a demonstration of fireworks that will make the late explosive war seem like the twenty-fourth of May in a village, says an eastern writer.

The comet is now racing at awful speed towards the earth. Dr. A. C. D. Crommelin, of the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, England, states that if this comet does not actually bump into the earth, it is going to come so close that the most magnificent protuberant display in the history of man will result. June 26, next, he sets at the decisive date. About that day, the large comet, Pons-Winnecke, travelling at the rate of three hundred miles a second (from here to Calgary in six weeks) will either have bumped into the earth or have got by it in a stupendous rush of flaming gases and dust matter, rock, meteorites and so on.

Professor C. A. Chant, professor of astronomy at the University of Toronto, does not deny Dr. Crommelin's statement. Prof. Chant says that Dr. Crommelin is a very eminent astronomer, with one of the greatest observatories in the world in which to make his calculations. Pons-Winnecke is one of twenty comets that run from the sun to Jupiter. It makes the round trip once every five and three-quarter years.

While our old earth shudders, leisurely around the sun once a year at the rate of one million miles a second, Pons-Winnecke rushes around its route from the sun to Jupiter at the rate of about 200 miles a second. The comet comes at intervals that are irregular to the earth's orbit. It cuts across the earth's orbit at a different place each trip. This trip, says Dr. Crommelin, the comet is going to pass so close, the two orbits intersecting to interest us so much that it will be like a rock whether they pass each other or have a collision.

Rather an awful thought. VISIBLY THIS MONTH Pons-Winnecke, with a flaming head and a huge, fiery tail, will become visible to astronomers some time the end of this month. From then on, according to Dr. Crommelin, it will rapidly increase in visibility, until before June it will be clearly visible to the naked eye. By which time, our astronomers will have had time to get their bearings and to warn us whether we ought to take out life insurance, dig deep dungeons under our cellars, or simply get ready for the next world.

WILL ASSIST WITH INCOME TAX REPORTS

It will be noted from our advertising columns that Mr. E. Handlin, who quite recently was auditor with the Income Tax Department of the Dominion Government will visit Strathmore on April 23rd. In view of the new regulations imposed by the government on interest returns, Mr. Handlin's visit should be invaluable to many farmers in this district who are not sure of the correct way of preparing their returns and of the many exemptions allowed to them against their incomes. Through ignorance of these exemptions, many a farmer pays more tax than what is due from him.
